Paris-Panthéon Assas University

Higher education and research in the heart of Paris

The university

Located in the heart of Paris (Quartier Latin), Paris-Panthéon-Assas University is the first and oldest Law University in France. It has developed a leading reputation in France and abroad for the quality of its teaching and research and stands out for a distinguished history, a solid foundation and an innovative atmosphere.

Devoted to provide students with first-rate education, it instructs nearly 23,000 students, in all areas of the Law, Political Science, Economics, Management, Information and Communication Science.

Since January 1, 2022, Paris-Panthéon-Assas University has been an experimental public institution built on a novel integrative model. With its four component institutions (EFREI, ISIT, CFJ and École W) and its partner institute (IRSEM), it is establishing itself as a new player in higher education and research in the legal sciences, with a stated ambition: to accompany and support the legal transformations of society in France, Europe and the world, and to participate in a better dissemination of law in society.

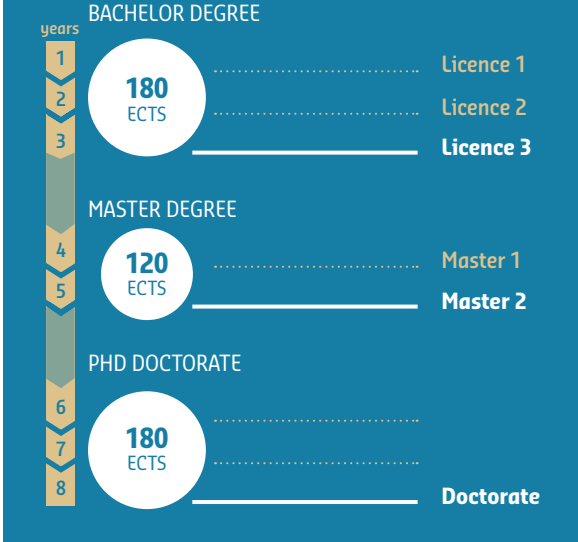

Its professors are unanimously recognized as highly qualified specialists in their fields of expertise both in France and abroad.

Our University aims to develop exchanges with partners in Europe and at the international level that share the vision of aiming high-standard quality in education and research programmes.

The university's academic offerings include undergraduate and postgraduate degrees, ranging from LL.B. to PhD programmes.

4EU+ Alliance

EUROPEAN UNIVERSITY ALLIANCE

Paris-Panthéon-Assas University is a member of the European University Alliance 4EU+. Panthéon-Assas University is renowned for its excellence in social sciences, and law in particular. It therefore complements the profile of the other members (Charles University in Prague, Heidelberg University, Sorbonne University in Paris, the University of Copenhagen, the University of Geneva, the University of Milan, and the University of Warsaw) and participates in strengthening the multidisciplinary nature of 4EU+.

For Paris-Panthéon-Assas University, this will also be an opportunity to further invest in multi-disciplinary research within a European academic system, particularly on issues such as sustainable development and artificial intelligence.

Events and festivities are offered (free of charge) by the University in order to help incoming students adapt to their new studying environment and the Parisian lifestyle:

- Introductory courses and seminars in French Law
- French language courses
- Sports welcome meeting, a great way of getting to know other students of the University
- Welcome events by the Erasmus Student Network association (ESN).

Exchange programmes

The University offers many exchange programmes with some of the most prestigious universities in Europe and around the world.

The University proposes a most extensive offer and variety of courses to partner incoming students. In Law for example, incoming students may choose courses amongst any of the first four years of studies. Most of these programmes are organized under the Erasmus+ framework: out of the 850 exchange students per year, 60% are Erasmus+ students.

Campus Life – Facilities

Student facilities and services for a great experience in the heart of Paris

Open-minded and attentive to students' needs, the University provides various numerical services, tutorials, and an ever-growing and exhaustive library database. In order to accompany as best as possible international students, the University makes available specific course and professional counselling services, as well as offices dedicated to exchange programmes and to individual foreign candidates. A selection of extracurricular athletic and cultural activities are also proposed. All of the above are acting in concert to complete and harmonize each student's University experience.

Libraries

A great variety of resources is available to support students in their studies, with more than 30 libraries and 26 research centres. In our most important centre lies a library that provides students with the most modern learning environment in the country. In addition to physical collections, the University also connects students to a comprehensive range of electronic resources and online access to over 35,000 books in electronic format, millions of journals and articles from top quality academic publishers. Students are able to access these resources both on and off campus so they can study at their

Sports

The students' sports service has a wide range of sports ranging from golf to karate, rugby to water polo, and for all levels: beginner, perfecting and competition. The University has a brand new Health and Fitness Centre in Assas, in addition to different centers in all the Parisian regions. Under certain conditions, students can benefit of three extra points counting towards their degree if they practice certain sports on a regular, constant, fully committed basis. We have teams entering national and regional University sports competitions, playing to a high level: some of our students have made it competing for France.

Internship & employment opportunities

Internships can substantially increase the chance of students in finding employment after graduation. The University's Professional Masters degrees and the Career and Internship Service portal proactively sources a range of quality internship opportunities for students, and make them far more prepared for entering the workforce. International students are welcome to attend the University's annual Job Fair: an opportunity to meet French, European and International Companies and Law Firms.
